THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING.

WE learn that Dr. S. P. Townsend has sold out the good will of his Sarsaparilla business, including machinery and raw material on hand, for the large sum of $100,000 and raw material on hand, for vertising. The purchasers are Messrs. Nostrand & Bach, both wealthy and well known individuals. They have, we understand, employed the celebrated Chemist, Dr. James R. Chilton, who will hereafter have the compounding department under his own immediate supervision. They are men of enterprise, and will, no doubt, sustain the character of this eelebrated medicine, which has the reputation of being the best preparation of Sarsaparilla made in the United States. The new proprietors, we understand, warrant their article to stand in all climates any length of time, which we have no doubt of, when manufactured by so practical a chemist as Professor Chilton, who is well known to be one of the first chemists in this country.

house is new and well furnished: two storys high, and has five comfortable rooms. There are about 7 acres of cleared land immediately around the house, 1 acre of which is well improved as a garden spot. The remaining 6 acres are in cultivation, and contain about 100 young apple and peach trees, and 30 flourishing young scuppernong vines. The location is believed to be perfectly healthy. New Livery Stables.—Fire Proof.

Having completed my new Livery Stables, I am now ready to receive Horses at livery, by the day, week, or month.

My Stables are situated on the corner of Princess and Third Streets, directly opposite the Court-House, and very convenient to the business part of the town. They are built of brick, and covered with tin, which makes them entirely FIRE-PROOF. They are large, commodious, and well constructed: and in every respect as comfortable and convenient as any Stables in the United States.

I also have (for the accommodation of Drovers.) a large and

I also have (for the accommodation of Drovers,) a large and comfortable Lot, together with a basement under the Stables ufficient to hold one hundred horses, and shelter them well and comfortably.

Horses, Carriages, and Buggies, kept constantly for hire.

My Hostlers cannot be surpassed in any country, and I therefore feel confident of giving entire satisfaction to those who favor me with their custom.

I feel grateful to my friends and the public for their liberal patronage heretofore, and hope to merit a continuance of their custom.

There are some people in this world, who live under the impression that their simple ipse dixit must settle every controversy—that a sneer is an argudouble dealing, when fastened down and proved upon them. With them it is quite sufficient to trine when we assert, that amendments by Legisla- distress. tive enactment is the only mode authorized in the anything, they mean to forbid amendment in any other way. They say expressly, that "No part of can give of the clause of the Constitution in relation to amendments, that will not sanction the doctrine of the Journal--or that will sanction any other if we are wrong, to be set right; but our mind mendable fortitude and cheerfulness, and testified is stubborn-it must have a matter proved to it before it can give its consent to receive it as an article of belief; and unfortunately, our friends of the Observer, in their superior wisdom, have, so far, only vouchedsafe to us the very cheering assurance that our argument is "ridiculous," and that we are very naughty. All this may be so, but perhaps the effeet of the Observer's assertion would not be at all and a considerable quantity of specie, which the lessened, were they supported by something in the shape of arguments drawn from the only instrument such. We believe this is a government of Laws and having her repaired. change can be legally made, except in accordance with the Constitution, and in the manner prescribed by law-not even if every man in the State desired it. It could no doubt be done, and the whole affair set aside, without the intervention of existing Conlawful amendment. We have no time to pursue this subject now, but will resume it in our next. By the way, we have not seen the debates in Convention for a long while, but expect to lay our hands upon them in a day or two. We wish to discuss the matpose of placing the truth before our readers; they are quite competent to form their own conclusions, tion will be called -- none can be called.

It seems that the Clerk, in enrolling the Ralsign, omitted three or four sections, which omission was not noticed by the Committee on Enrolled Bills, ing is destroyed, being cracked in several places. and thus the bill, as signed, differs in this respect from that which passed both Houses. ## What we have Lost.

Had our Legislature made a subscription to the stock, or authorized an endorsement of the bonds of the Manchester Railroad, we have not the slightest doubt that the Legislature of South Carolina would have made a liberal appropriation for the Cheraw branch of forty-five miles long, the construction of which would place our Road in immediate connection with the rich and tertile lands of the Upper Pee Dee. and almost double its prospects of advantage to Gates, New York. this place and profit to its stockholders. In view of this state of the case, we think it would be policy to make some present sacrifices in order to place the speedy completion of the Manchester Road beyond the possibility of a doubt, prior to the next meeting of the South Carolina Legislature. After all, perhaps it is better to seek help in the private energies of those immediately interested, than in the State also to acknowledge the receipt of several papers which seems not to care for us, as, unfortunately, Wilmington is a North Carolina and not a Virginia town. Perhaps if we could get annexed to South Carolina it might be an advantage, in the eyes of some of our Legislators.

Sewing Machines.

There used to be a vulgar proverb about its taking nine tailors to make a man, which is likely to be changed into ten tailors making one sewing machine, at least so it is asserted by the patentees of the new "Yankee Notions" in that line. In addition to the retary machine of Lerow & Blodgett, there is now in town at the Washington Hotel, another machine which the assignee of the patent, Mr. MARTIN, of course there is no proscription in the matter. Philadelphia, will ro doubt be pleased to exhibit to "all the world and the rest of mankind." A LEGAL CURIOSITY .- The other day, in the Suerior Court of New York, a cause came on for arument, when the defendant's answer was produced to the Court in the shape of a document of some six thousand folios. The judicial bon mot was considered a very fair reply to the mammoth MARVELS OF THE CORNISH MINES .- Some of the mines are truly grand undertakings. The consoli-dated mines, the largest of the Cornish group, employ upwards of 3.000 persons. One of pumps water from the direct depth of 1,600 feet, the weight of the pumping apparatus alone being upwards of 500 tons; the pumping-rod is 1740 feet long, and it raises 2.000,000, gallons of water a week from a depth five times the height of St. Paul's !-These are indeed wonders to marvel at! The consolidated and united mines, both belonging to one company, have stated to have used the following vast quantities of material in a year. Coals 15,270 tons; candles, 132,144 lbs. gunpowder 82,000; leather straps, &c. 13,493 lbs; pick and shovel handles, 16,698 dozens. Sir Charles Lemon has estimated that in the whole of the Cornish mines, worth of gunpowder is used annually; that the timber employed in the underground works equals the growth of 140 square miles of Norwegian forest, and that 37,000,000 tons of water are raised annually from the mines .- The Land We Live In.

We could not credit this story if it was not confirmed by strong concurrent testimony. We once pressed by the musquitoes of Florida, took refuge in an old sugar house, under an immense inverted sugar boiler. For a time he felt quite secure: but presently, to his utter estonishment, he discovered that they were penetrating the bottom and sides of the metal boiler in every direction. With the natural shrewdness of his class he drew from his coat pocket a small hammer, which he carried for the purpose of setting up his clocks, and amused himself by clinching the protruding bills, as wrough nails opposed by a part of the democratic party. A strong effort was made to throw the whig vote for Mr. Bingfor some time, and had made fast the bills of some hundreds of his blood-thirsty assailants when he discovered that the immense cast iron kettle, weighing something in the neighborhood of a ton, began to move. The next moment, to his utter consternation it rose from the ground and was borne off by the musquitoes in their efforts to release themselves from Timber.—Notwithstanding there has been a rise in the Cape Fear River of about 14 feet water, as we learn, there has as yet comparatively but a very small quantity of Timber reached market. Nearly all that has yet arrived has been taken by millers, at prices ranging within our quotations to which we refer.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life, increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this broad country, has proven beyond a doubt that no medicine or combination of medicines yet doubt that no medicine or combination of medicines yes known can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midet thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a remedy has at length been found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the langs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cares affected by its use, but we would present the following opinions of eminent men, and refor further enquiry to the circular which the Agent below named will always be pleased to furzish free, wherein are full particulars and indisputable proof of these facts.

From the President of Amberst College, the celebrathe President of Amherst College, the celebrated Professor Hitchcock.

"James C. Ayer—Sir: I have used your Cherry Pectoral in my own case of deep-seated Bronchitis, and am satisfied from its chemical constitution, that it is an admirable compound for the relief of laryngial and bronchial difficulties. If my opinion as to its superior character can be of any service, you are at liberty to use it as you think proper. "EDWARD HITCHCOCK, L.L. D"

From the widely celebrated
Professor Silliman, M. D., I.T. D.,
Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy, &c., Yale College, member of the Lit. Hist. Med. Phil. and Scientific Socicties of America and Enrope.

"I deem the Cherry Pecteral an admirable composition from some of the best articles in the Materia Medica, and a very effective remedy for the class of diseases it is intended to cure."

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 1, 1849.

MAJOR PATTISON, President of the S. C. Senate, states he has used the Cherry Pectoral with wonderful success, to cure an inflammation of the lungs.

SACO, Me., April 26, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell—Dear Sir: I am now constantly using your Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and prefer it to any other medicine for pulmonary complaints. From observation of many severe cases, I am convinced it will care coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs, that have put to defease all either supeliceases.

coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs, that have put to defiance all other remedies.

I invariably recommend its use in cases of consumption, and consider it much the best remedy known for that disease. Respectfully yours.

Mr. Burke, in which Mr. Cockrill successfully maintains his position previously assumed, to the effect, "that the United States are a better wool-growing country than any portion of Europe; that the low latitudes have advantages over the high, and will produce finer wool; and also that as fine wool is now grown in the United States as can be found in the It will be admitted that this is taking a bold stand in opposition to the generally received opinions on the production of fine wool; and those who will rejoice to see their beloved South possess another great staple cannot but wish to have the facts and reason-ing which support this favorable view of sheep-hus-bandry in "the low latitudes" of the republic. New York, 1875. Other measurements are given, but the above represent the highest and the lowest. It will be seen that the celebrated buck "Napoleon," valued at $1500, has wool that measures only 1200 to the inch; while sheep now kept in New York, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee, yield wool from 50 to 100 per cent. finer, which can be purchased at $50 a head. From these facts it is evident that the finest wool can be grown in the United States without deterioration as far South as Tennessee : and Mr. Cockrill believes

Wool is injured more by injudicious keep of sheep in this country, than by climate, whether in the Northern or Southern States. Sheep need to be equally fed the year round; not have a surfeit six months, and suffer from short allowance the balance of the year. This practice greatly impairs the evenness and value of the staple. All successful woolgrowers both in Europe and the United States, pay particular attention to this point.

Mr. C. is mistaken in supposing that Mr. Browne of Philadelphia is the first gentleman of science in the strength of timber, to build roads and to plan this country who has paid attention to the measurement of wool by a micrometer and microscope. We should rejoice to see the suggestion of this enterprising Southern wool-grower, to give Mr. Browne a beautiful fleeces of 2186, for his investigations in this important product carried into effect. Agricultural.

From the Southern Cultivator for January.

Weel-growing in the Low Latitudes of the U. States.
We have before us an article from the pen of Mark R. Cockrill, Esq., of Nashville, Tenn., a distinguished abounds in interesting facts and suggestions. It is written in reply to remarks contained in the Patent Office report for 1848, made by Mr. Fleichmann and Mr. Burke, in which Mr. Cockrill successfully maintains his position previously assumed, to the effect, race of sheep were first improved in the region about Carthage, from which the Romans got so much of their knowledge of farm economy.

We are inclined to believe that this opinion is well founded, and that the production of fine wool at the South will one day rival in value that of cotton .-Men of moderate means can start sheep-husbandry without going into debt; and millions of acres now yielding nothing to agriculture, nothing to manufactures or commerce, can be made eminently useful to mistress; 'What on h'earth are you doing with your each of these great interests, by affording sustenance to millions of sheep. They multiply with extraorditold me to butter my heels, and I'm bin doin it. nary rapidity under the most favorable circumstan-Food, shelter, water and salt, are the elements h'are.' of success. In addition to grass and turneps, peas can be grown auxiliary to the farmer, as most agreeable nutriment to flocks. Nor will the expense of their cultivation be objectionable, when their power to enrich the soil for cotton and grain crops is fairly tested. We are looking for a plain and feasible SYSTEM OF COMBINED TILLAGE AND HUSBANDRY, that will steadily improve all the arable lands at the South, which need improvement. Thirty years of observation at the North, and the experience of many thousands have proved there, the wisdom of keeping sheep in connection with wheat-culture.

Wool now brings a remunerating price, and the consumption exceeds the home production some twenty millions of pounds, to say nothing of the immense amount imported in woolen goods. A fair lot of sheep will clip an average of a dollar's worth of wool per annum a head. A sheep whose fleece is worth only 20 cents a pound, should yield 5 pounds a year; and if it is worth 25 cents four pounds will answer, and so on. There are large flocks which turn out an average of $1 50 worth of wool per fleece, but these are uncommon. Of course much depends on the price of the article in the market. 300 often crowding together in a small compass.— Pure air is indispensable to health, and a plenty of food is indispensable to the growth of flesh and wool at a profitable rate. But no one point is more important than to keep sheep free from all burrs and thistles, which greatly deteriorate the value of the staple. This is sadly neglected at the South, and hence a fleece which if clean would sell at 25 cents a pound, will bring but 12 cents.

"Draining.—It is not land alone that requires to who does not leave more or less of his best land undrained, and therefore unproductive, losing forever the interest on the money he values it at yet it has been well said, that a general enlightened education is equally necessary, to drain the farmer's mind of obsolete prejudices. And the best system that could possibly be established is exactly that which is taught to those selected for West Point, (there to be educated at the farmer's expense) only substituting the art of tillage for tactics. All else is exactly adapted to prepare the student, in the most efficient manner, to become an active, valuable citizen—useful and honorable to himself and his country. A West Point education makes him a botanist in a measure, a geologist, a chemist, a mathematician, and a civil engineer; prepares him to examine the qualities of land, the strength of timber, to build roads, and to plan canals, to construct bridges and farm-buildings, and to pronounce on the proportions of parts and the value of materials. All this is the fruit of a government West Point education, and every farmer of sense and spirit should insist on one school in each The fact that Mr. Cockrill has brought up his to prepare the student, in the most efficient manner

Dunse. Requiring the services of a barber, he was recommended to Wattie Dron, who was represented as not only skilled in that profession, but excellent at cracking a joke or telling a story. Wattie, though no doubt surprised at the absurdity of the proposal, yet, considering how easily he could earn the guinea, and the improbability that the barber having stripped off his coat, leaning with one hand on the chair, commenced leaping over the rung the bell and thus accosted the waiter.

"What is the reason, sir, you insult me by sending a mad fellow like that, instead of a proper barber, as you pretended he was?" Barber (leaping) -" Here goes I, Wattie Dron, barber of Dunse." Waiter-"Oh, sir, I don't know what is the matter I never saw him in this way in my life; Mr. Dron, Mr. Dron, what do you mean?" Barber—"Here goes I, Wattie Dron, barber of Dunse." Waiter— Bless me! Mr. Dron, recollect there are gentle men here; how can you make such a fool of Wattie! Wattie! if ye care au for me, mind bairns at hame, and come awa wi' me." Barber
